

Lesson 1: Pat's Legacy

Dr. Roberto Fernandez-Romero

Although I never had the fortune of meeting Pat personally, unfortunately by the time I joined the Pat Summit Clinic as their medical director, she had passed away, I've had the opportunity to meet so many people that she deeply touched. And not only that, everything that we do every day at our clinic is really inspired by her vision and the strength that she found to come out and talk about something so personal and so difficult as her diagnosis. In doing so, she really gave a voice to the voiceless and continues every day to make a difference in so many people's lives.

So we are very fortunate to have been part of this legacy and to continue on with it in our work every day.
