

Develop and Demonstrate Loyalty: Pat in Her Own Words

Coach Pat Summitt

I tell our players right off that loyalty is so big. Loyalty.

I would not hire anyone I couldn't trust. I would struggle with any player that wasn't loyal to our system.

How many of you are assistant coaches? You play such an important role in the success of a team and a program because you sit in a position perhaps wanting to be a head coach, and you've got a lot of great ideas.

And you don't always agree. And sometimes you have to agree to disagree.

But the ability from within to support someone that's sitting in the big chair is so critical to the success of the head coach, and the entire staff, and the entire team.

If I ever thought I had a coach on our staff that was disloyal, I would have only one choice.

Make a change.
