

Make Hard Work Your Passion: Pat in Her Own Words

Coach Pat Summitt

You know, everyone made reference to the fact that, you know, I was a lot like my father and my father was ... he was a man of few words, a very demanding father in terms of what we did with our chores.

I mean, I grew up on a dairy farm. Cows don't take a day off. So, we worked, and we worked hard.

He told us that when the church doors are open, you're there. When the school doors are open, you're there. So, that's the reason I never missed a day of school in my life. And it helped me to focus on my education. Education was a priority. And he made that known.

With that said, why he did inspire me? Because his expectations were so high.
